I have seen a used BMW X5 on Auto Trader which seems too cheap to be true. It is for sale at Big Motoring World in Kent, so it is only 75 miles away. I am so tempted to go there this weekend for a test drive. We have a really high mileage used BMW X3 which has been raced and rallied and is looking very tired. It needs a service, due an MOT and all four alloys need refurbishing. If this car dealer would give us a decent part exchange price I would be tempted to raid our savings and do a deal.
